

The bill before you to allow cross-ownership of newspaper and TV in the same city should be outright rejected. Cross-ownership decreases the diversity of voices in the media, permits oligopoly ownership of the Fourth Estate, and increases the chance of censorship of news or information deemed unworthy by the holding corporation. It should be front page news that the FCC would even consider passing a bill that would limit audience's access to information in a democracy.